A Matter of Nose.

In spite of the important place given to the nose as an index of character, there is but little to be learned from it in estimating the causes of an innate bond between the mind and the features. Most of the correspondences which have been remarked appear to be of a radical order, but why a Roman nose first became associated with a warlike and domineering disposition or how a long and thin nose became linked with business prudence is more than I can say. If we omit the changes which take place in a nose during the lifetime of its possessor, there is scarcely a nasal peculiarity of value to the physiognomist which at the same time is cosmopolitan. No Tartar or Hoten-tot, however warlike, could give proof of it in this way. Japan has shown that she possesses plenty of men with military attitude, but no Wellingtonian nose can be found within her borders.
Again, no Chinese nose is long and thin, yet John is not without a certain aptitude at driving bargains.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Music and the Turtle.

The Egyptians, according to the sage Apollodorus, credit their Hermes or Mercury with the invention of music under the following circumstances: The Nile, having overflowed its banks and inundated nearly all of Egypt, on its return to its banks left on its shores various dead animals and among the rest a tortoise, the flesh having dried and wasted in the sun until nothing remained in the shell but cartilages. These, being tightened by the drying heat, became sonorous.
Mercury, walking along the banks of the river, happened to strike his foot against this shell, was so pleased with the sound produced that the idea of the lyre suggested itself, and he constructed a lyre of the shell of a large tortoise, which he strung with the sinews of dead animals. Dryden wrote:

Less than a god they thought there could not dwell
Within the hollow of that shell That spoke so sweetly.

Papyrus.

The papyrus used by the ancient Egyptians was made from the stems of a peculiar water reed growing in all parts of Egypt. The outside layer of the plant was removed, and beneath this there were found a number of layers of a delicate, pithy membrane.
These, being separated, were placed in layers. A second layer was laid at right angles to and above the first and sometimes a third over the second.
Heavy pressure was then applied, and the layers were firmly cemented into a fair article of paper. No gum other than what was contained in the plant itself was used in the process. The papyrus was very much stronger than the average paper made by the modern machines. The sheets were commonly made from six to twelve inches square.

Bar Wisdom.

"Girls" quietly called off but eminently astute Aunt Broadhead.

"Ma'am" they replied as they furtered obediently to her.

"Always remember, girls, that when a man professes to have a 'fatherly interest' in you his own daughters need it, that your own father can sufficiently supply you with it and that is the oldest of all stories save one in the world.—Pack.

An Experiment.

"Where are you going, Michael, so early?"

"Apothecary's; wife got sick last night."

"Doctor, when she gets?"

"No. I found a prescription in the street when I was in town, and I'm going to have it made up and try it."

—Flegende Blatter.

tor—Because in the first act two of Fine feelings without vigor or reason,

Have You A BOAT

USED FOR PLEASURE OR PROFIT?

Would you at comparatively small cost increase your pleasure or earning capacity? It may be done by installing a "Globe" marine engine.

This make of engine—the product of twenty years' experience of one of the foremost firms in the country—presents a standard make and endorsed by its use in the government, state and municipal service.

In its construction the best material is used, the highest grade of workmanship employed, resulting in a durable, reliable and economical machine. Vibration is reduced to a minimum. Noise and odor eliminated. With no unnecessary or useless adjuncts, the operation is simple, the control complete.

Made in sizes varying from 2 to 100 horse-power, and turned out by the makers only after the most rigid tests have been applied, and with a guarantee they merit your attention.

Types of the "Globe" engine may be seen by calling upon Bennie Edmundson, the well-known launchman and agent, who, having had, during the past ten years, experience of many different makes of engines has found the "Globe" to be all that the makers claim for it.

In his favorite pleasure launch, "Cupid," he has had a 16 horse-power "Globe" for the past two years, and its operation, maintenance and present condition fully justify the makers' claims, and demonstrate the "Globe's" popularity amongst boat owners throughout the country.

He will at all times be pleased to have you call and inspect the "Cupid's" engine; also the 6 horse-power "Globe" he is now preparing to install in his boat, "The Globe," which he expects to soon have ready for the accommodation of his many patrons.

His other boats are at all times ready to accommodate parties at reasonable rates. Arrangements for excursion trips may be made personally or by telephone.

Beggars Who Take the "Cure."

Begging seems to be a lucrative calling in Vienna. In one of the district police courts a man and his wife were summoned to appear on a charge of begging in the streets. Only the woman appeared, and in answer to the magistrate's questions stated that her husband had gone to Baden to take a cure! The prosecuting attorney remarked that the Viennese beggars earned such good incomes and lived so well that they were forced to go to some bath resort to recover from their high living. Only a few days ago, he said, a beggar well-known in the Vienna police courts had returned from Carlsbad after taking the cure there and had resumed his begging with renewed vigor.—Fall Mail Gazette.

Pawnshop Sales.

"Don't imagine," says an auctioneer, "that you can get any real bargains at a pawnshop sale. The pawnbroker knows just what people think about his stock, many of them having learned from experience that he will pay next to nothing on the best quality of jewelry and silverware, watches, etc., and they thus get it into their heads that all the articles sold at auction are genuine goods. But there's where they make a big mistake. The pawnbroker seldom sells any pledged articles at these auction sales. He uses them simply for a 'blind.' Articles taken in pawn are invariably sold at private sale."—New York American.

A Glimpse of Carlyle.

One day Carlyle suddenly stopped at a street crossing and, stooping, picked up something out of the mud, even at the risk of being knocked down and run over by passing vehicles. With his bare hands he gently rubbed the mud from it. He then took it to the pavement and laid it down on a clean spot on the curbstone. "That," said the old man in a tone of tenderness he rarely used, "is only a crust of bread. Yet I was taught by my mother never to waste anything—above all, bread, more precious than gold. I am sure that the little sparrows or a hungry dog will get nourishment from this bit of bread."
